

It is really important to keep maths current and to make sure that the top end of GCSE content is really secure. In order to do this a new mymaths login is needed to access 'bridging' work to be completed over the summer. Please email Mrs Seaman at seaman.j@torpoint.cornwall.sch.uk from your school email account so that she can set you up in this new class and email new logins and passwords for you. This work set on here is the minimum requirement, but you can access any other topic you wish to using these logins so that we can monitor the work you are completing and point you in the direction of further resources where appropriate.
