

E-Safety

1 How to report concerns

2 How to deal with different e-safety concerns

1

It may be that you, or your child, come across something upsetting or concerning online. It is important that you feel confident about what to do if you do see something inappropriate online, or if your child tells you they've seen something.

If you're worried about something a child or young person may have experienced online, you can contact the NSPCC Helpline for free support and advice. If your child needs more support, they can contact Childline.

2

There are different pathways you may take when dealing with e-safety concerns, depending on where the concern came from... below are some of the most common concerns

Inappropriate contact

The Child Exploitation and Online Protection Command (CEOP) helps keep children safe from online grooming

<https://www.ceopeducation.co.uk/parents/Get-help/Reporting-an-incident/>

Inappropriate adverts/videos

If you see an inappropriate online advert, you can report this

<https://www.asa.org.uk/>

Inappropriate images

Sometimes, innocent searches can lead to not so innocent results. If you come across an indecent image of a child online, it is important to report this to the Internet Watch Foundation (IWF) so that they can review this content.

<https://www.ceopeducation.co.uk/parents/Get-help/Reporting-an-incident/>

Online Gaming

Online games are a great way for children to have fun and connect with friends, though sometimes gaming can go wrong and abuse can occur on these platforms.

<https://www.cybersmile.org/advice-help/gaming/in-game-resources>

Source-
<https://www.nspcc.org.uk/keeping-children-safe/online-safety/online-reporting/>